

Think Golf! Check out Shiloh Springs new blog

Shiloh Springs Golf Club has a new information source for golfers interested in keeping up with weekly happenings at the golf club. Brian Silcott, PGA Golf Professional, has started a new blog at <http://shilohspringsgolfcourse.blogspot.com>.

The blog will be updated weekly with information about events, golf course maintenance updates, game improvement tips, and food & beverage news. Check out this new site that will be both entertaining and informational. The first blog spot posted on the site includes exciting new food items that will be added to the grill menu. In the future, look for new pictures of the course as the season progresses.

In addition to the weekly course news, golfers can share their thoughts and ideas directly with course management. If you have any questions about the blog, contact Shiloh Springs Golf Club at (816) 270-4653.
